May Book Report

Poetry

Due Date: May 28th

Requirements:

1. Choose a poem with a minimum of 10 lines (there should be an appropriate number of words per line – 65 words total should be the least amount) – the poem should be grade and age appropriate. You should be able to understand the meaning of the poem.

2. SHOW ME THE POEM!! – This must be approved before starting! You have until next Friday, May 15th – then I will start assigning poems as you will be running out of time to memorize it.

2. Memorize the poem.

3. You need to recite your poem from memory onto your Flipgrid by Thursday, May 28th. Make sure you have your code! You may use a prop if it you would like, it just cannot have your poem written on it.

4. The written assignment can be completed in Google Classroom – also by May 28th, though they do not have to be completed at the same time. As long as you have both pieces submitted by May 28th the order and space between the submissions doesn't matter. We will be reviewing the terminology associated with poetry as we get closer which will make this step easier to complete.

To find a poem:

- If you have a library card, libraries are still open digitally. You can download books from the library to look for an idea.

- Do a search for "kid friendly poems"; "4th grade appropriate poems"; "poems about _____"; "poems for when you feel _____"; "poets for kids" etc...

- Ask me! I took out a number of poetry books from my local library (digitally, of course). I will select a poem for you – however, if you choose this option, you get what you get, and you don't get upset!!
